Put HKBN JOS On Your Enterprise Applications Team

A unique combination of business experience and industry expertise enables HKBN JOS to tackle emerging and traditional technologies with equal ease

Enterprise applications are transforming businesses. They can boost performance and optimize virtually every process. But, developing, implementing and managing these complex tools can be tougher than building a world-beating sports team!

That's because, like any gifted athlete, every app is different. With its own unique capabilities, based on a mix of traditional and emerging technologies. And, no matter how challenging it may be to get brand new and legacy apps to work seamlessly together, expectations – from availability and efficiency to R.O.I. and T.C.O. – are always high!

What are keeping Leaders Up At Night

Connections

How to connect customer profile data from external e-Commerce providers to internal CRM systems?

Platform-to-Platform

How to quickly connect data from different devices, on-premises applications, legacy systems and cloud applications?

Collaboration

How to easily enable collaboration and increase productivity by updating legacy systems?

Security

How to ensure that these connections with SaaS vendors and other external partners are secure?

HKBN JOS can help

Whether your business relies on traditional legacy tools, is rolling out new solutions, or interested in developing custom-designed applications to meet unique requirements, you can trust HKBN JOS. We'll help you design, develop update and pull everything together for maximum flexibility, usability and performance.

Smooth, seamless innovation

The proliferation of application platforms – from major players to numerous niche providers – has created a confusing landscape. Although employees can tap into individual applications, the promise of seamless collaboration remains elusive.

That's where HKBN JOS comes in. With an in-depth understanding of today's most popular platforms, we are perfectly placed to develop platform-specific applications, extend legacy systems, or connect old and new apps with others to exploit valuable data assets.

The net result is a genuinely united platform that empowers true enterprise collaboration, creates excellent employee experiences and improves customer satisfaction. Most importantly, it enables your business to take full-advantage of innovations as and when they come along.

Designing your own destiny

If you want to write your own applications story, HKBN JOS can co-create right along with you. Our Agile Development Experts help in-house teams to work faster and more effectively, delivering quality new apps or enhancing existing ones on time, within tight budgets.

Close cooperation between HKBN JOS Agile Experts and client teams ensures strict attention to technical excellence and superior designs. With working apps available within weeks rather than months, we can help you to adapt to change and embrace opportunities almost instantly. Which hones your competitive edge to razor sharpness, and slashes time-to-market to the bone.

Always RTG

After six decades of success, HKBN JOS has built up a deep and diverse pool of software assets that are always RTG – Ready to Go! Proven and pre-certified, they are perfect for putting together new solutions.

In addition to being available in a fraction of the time it takes to write new code, leveraging known-quantities provides customers with guaranteed performance as well as priceless peace of mind.

Whatever you need, whenever you need it

Whether you want to overhaul your existing application infrastructure or roll out a new one, HKBN JOS has the technical experience and in-depth industry expertise you need. Our portfolio covers most business requirements, from big data and advanced AI, to core processes such as ERP, Finance, CRM and HR. If you are looking for something special, our custom applications development team will even create it for you from scratch.

Let HKBN JOS lead the way

Everyone's digital journey is different. No matter where you are on yours, or where you want to go, HKBN JOS's Enterprise Application offerings can help you get there – quickly and cost-effectively. We will empower you to scale up, change direction and exploit new opportunities without compromising performance or adding unnecessary complications.

If you have an Enterprise Application challenge, HKBN JOS has the solution.
